Version 1.0

1.0 Introduction

1.1 About this Expansion

This is the second Commissioner Expansion to Fast Drive Football (FDF), taking what I learned from creating the Fast Inning Baseball Commissioner Handbook and applying it to FDF. This version isn't meant to replace the original, but instead offer an alternative approach to building a fictional FDF Universe.

This version introduces a roster of starting players whose combined ratings create the team qualities. The goal is a more organic approach to team evolution, where the ratings and qualities of the starting players drive the narrative.

Players of the original expansion will notice that some of the concepts from that release have not been carried over to this version. Team ownership, Front Office Grades, Franchise Points, etc. won't be found here. Instead, the mechanics have been simplified and narrative is provided by a combination of player progression/regression/retirement, and a weekly headline segment during the season.

1.2 Player Ratings & Player Qualities

Individual players in this expansion are rated on their contribution to the passing and running games on offense, and the same on defense. Gamers who have played Second Season Football from PLAAY.com will be familiar with this "P/R" approach. In addition, each player may have up to two additional qualities. The combination of these ratings and qualities generate the team qualities that are used in FDF gameplay.

1.2.1 Player Pass/Run Rating

The sum of these player ratings are what determine the most important team qualities in FDF, a team's ability to score points (PROLIFIC/DULL) and a team's ability to prevent the other team from scoring points (STAUNCH/INEPT).

1.2.2 Special Teams Grades

Place kickers and kick returners do not receive pass/run ratings. Instead, they receive a grade that is used before the start of each season to determine their skill level that season.

1.2.3 Player Qualities

Players may be given named qualities that will contribute to the team's secondary team qualities like ball control, sacks, turnovers, penalties, and clock efficiency. With few exceptions, player qualities mirror the exact qualities from the base game.

1.2.3.1 Player Qualities - Offense

The table below lists all the possible qualities for the offensive unit. Generally, when qualities are given to a player, they are given in semi (•) increments.

Player Quality	Positions	Impact
Dynamic	QB, RB, WR, TE	Positive impact to total yards
Erratic	QB, RB, WR, TE	Negative impact to total yards
Evasive	QB	Reduce likelihood of sacks
Hesitant	QB	Increase likelihood of sacks
Efficient	QB	Positive impact to clock management
Inefficient	QB	Negative impact to clock management
Reliable	QB	Reduce likelihood of interceptions
Shaky	QB	Increase likelihood of interceptions
Solid	OL	Reduce likelihood of sacks
Porous	OL	Increase likelihood of sacks
Secure	RB, WR, TE	Reduce likelihood of fumbles
Clumsy	RB, WR, TE	Increase likelihood of fumbles
Disciplined	OL	Reduce likelihood of penalties
Undisciplined	OL	Increase likelihood of penalties

1.2.3.2 Player Qualities - Defense

The table below lists all the possible qualities for the defensive unit.

Player Quality	Positions	Impact
Stiff	DL, LB	Positive impact to reducing total yards
Soft	DL, LB	Negative impact to reducing total yards
Punishing	DL, LB	Increase likelihood of sacks
Mild	DL, LB	Decrease likelihood of sacks
Aggressive	CB, SS, FS	Increase likelihood of interceptions
Meek	CB, SS, FS	Decrease likelihood of interceptions
Active	LB, SS	Increase likelihood of fumbles
Passive	LB, SS	Decrease likelihood of fumbles
Disciplined	DL, CB, FS	Reduce likelihood of penalties
Undisciplined	DL, CB, FS	Increase likelihood of penalties

1.2.3.3 Special Teams Player Qualities

The table below shows the only possible quality for the special teams unit.

Player Quality	Positions	Impact
Electric	KR, PR	Increase likelihood scoring TD's on kick returns

1.3 Book Keeping

It is impossible to build a tabletop football league management system without some level of administration and upkeep. Team sheets to track all basic information are provided as part of the game, but it is assumed that most gamers will use these rules and tables to create their own spreadsheets and computer based solutions.

1.4 Dice Rolls

Tables in this handbook leverage 2d6 (two six-sided dice) rolls. For the 2d6 rolls, most often you will need to read one die as the tens place and the other as the ones place, so having dice of 2 different colors will help.

1.5 2d6 Roll Reference

Many roll lookups in this book require you to modify base-6 rolls which can be confusing if you are not used to it. The following reference should help.

1.6 Acknowledgements

I began work on this expansion in May of 2025, and from June through August of the same year, I enlisted the help of the fine folks from the PLAAY Games Discord Fast Drive Football channel to help me test and refine the systems. Their contributions were instrumental in my ability to get this expansion completed so quickly. In no particular order, thanks to Tony Graham, Ethan Musulin, Michael Green, Gary Moore, Superteddy57, Croz, Matt, NOLARyder, Phil, referee, and anyone else I may have missed. Shout out to Marco Scola for his enthusiasm for my games and his words of encouragement.

Thanks as always to Keith Avallone and my best gaming friends “The Muddlers” for their ever-present support for all my gaming ventures.

2.0 League Creation & Progression

2.1 League Size

There is no limit to the size of your league, or its configuration of conferences or divisions.

2.2 Franchise Creation

Award franchises to locations of your choosing. Use online A.I. tools like ChatGPT or Claude to help with generating team names. See Section 3.0 - Head Coach Procedures for information about how to assign a head coach to each team.

2.3 Populating Teams with Players

You are now ready to roll-up your teams. See Section 4.0 - Player Creation for all the player creation tables. It's possible to hold a draft, but much easier to roll up each team one at a time. Once complete, proceed to Section 5.0 - Team Qualities & Ratings to complete league creation.

2.4 Season Progression

Once team creation is complete, begin your first season. Conduct Section 6 - Weekly Headline after each week's slate of games. Following each season you will complete Section 7 - Player Progression and Retirement, and then hold the Annual Draft (Section 8). Once the draft is complete, begin the next season.

2.5 Injuries

Anytime a starting player is injured via the weekly headline process, teams will have a backup take their place until they return. These players have the following ratings:

OFFENSE
Pos	Backup
QB	0/1
RB	0/1
WR	1/0
TE	0/1
OL	0/1

DEFENSE
Pos	Backup
DT	0/1
DE	1/0
LB	0/1
CB	1/0
SS	0/1
FS	1/0

SPECIAL TEAMS
Pos	Backup
K	D (FG: 11-51 / XP: 11-61)
KR	D (No Quality)
PR	D (No Quality)

Important: When an offense or defense backup is starting, the team must re-establish their team qualities. When the injured player returns, team qualities can be reset again.

2.6 Free Agents

Any time that a team releases a player to make room for a newly acquired player, the old player is placed on the League Free Agent list. The players on this list may be picked up by another team at any time.

Following the annual draft, give each team a chance to pick up new free agents. Set your own rules as commissioner for how this Free Agent period should be run.

3.0 Head Coach Procedures

Each franchise in your league will have a head coach that brings a Focus and Specialty to the team that factors into off-season events. For game day, they may have a quality that applies to clock management. These are the familiar EFFICIENT and INEFFICIENT qualities.

Head coach naming, back story, and team assignment are up to you. The following procedures will help you create them, assess if they keep their job from season to season, and determine when they retire. Coaches do not have annual development - their quality remains static throughout their career.

3.1 Head Coach Creation

3.1.1 Head Coach Age

Roll 2d6 to determine the head coach's age.

HEAD COACH AGE		HEAD COACH AGE		HEAD COACH AGE		HEAD COACH AGE
Die Roll	Age	Die Roll	Age	Die Roll	Age	Die Roll	Age

21	45	41-42	52	55	59	66	66

3.1.2 Head Coach Focus

Roll 2d6 on the table below. During the annual draft process, refer to their focus when determining the prioritization of positions the team is looking to fill. Focus is also used to determine what specialty the head coach may receive in the next step.

HEAD COACH FOCUS
Roll	Focus

3.1.3 Head Coach Specialty

Roll 2d6 on the appropriate table below to determine the Head Coach's speciality.

45-56	Secondary Coach	+1 to all CB/SS/FS development rolls
61-66	Special Teams Coach	Return specialists get +1 to development rolls

3.1.4 Head Coach Game Day Quality

Roll 2d6 on the table below to determine how much of a tactician they are on game day. Following this step, Head Coach creation is complete.

3.2 Head Coach Retention

At the end of every season, there is a chance that the head coach could be fired if they finished at .500 or below. They will never be fired after a winning season. Roll 2d6 on the appropriate table below after applying any modifiers. Modifiers may stack. When a coach is fired, follow the steps in Section 3.1 to roll up a new coach for the team. Coaches that are fired do not roll for retirement. They may be hired by other teams in the future.

3.3 Head Coach Retirement

Roll 2d6 on the appropriate table below to determine if the Head Coach chooses to retire at the end of a season. When a coach retires, follow the steps in Section 3.1 to roll up a new coach for the team.

HEAD COACH MODIFIERS

3.4 Head Coach Game Day Quality Change

Following the retirement check, roll 1d6 to determine if their Game Day quality will change for the upcoming season. On a roll of "1", it decreases one level, and on a "6" it increases one level. The highest it can go is EFFICIENT, and the lowest is INEFFICIENT. See the table in section 3.1.4 for reference.

For example, you roll a "6" for a head coach with a quality of INEFFICIENT. They will now be INEFFICIENT•.

4.0 Player Creation

This section has two primary purposes: Creating professional caliber players to populate the teams of a brand new league (or maybe create an expansion team in an existing league), or populate a Free Agent list of an established league.

Team Rosters in the Commissioner Expansion focus solely on the starting players whose ratings generate the Team Qualities used in FDF gameplay. This simplification reduces administrative overhead, but can be a potential issue for commissioners who want to be able to build more realistic finder ranges for events like touchdowns, sacks, and interceptions. The creation of these finders is outside the scope of this expansion. Also note that punters are not a part of the FDF roster.

4.1 Creating Free Agents for New Teams

This system was designed to create a draft pool of players for your new league, or alternatively you can roll up new teams without a draft. The latter has been found much easier during play testing. The player creation charts are designed to produce a fair distribution of talent across all age ranges, with teams generally landing on the low-end of average with some exceptions.

The table to the right shows the makeup of the 25-player FDF roster. To calculate the number of players needed at each position for a draft, multiply the number of teams by the number of players needed at that position on each team. You should feel free to adjust the makeup of your rosters as you see fit. For example, if creating a league set in the 1980's you can replace a WR with a FB or another RB.

FDF ROSTER SIZE
Pos	**#
QB	1
RB	1
WR	3
TE	1
OL	5
DL	3 or 4*
LB	3 or 4*
S	2
PR	1
KR	1
K	1

* Teams may employ a 3-4 or 4-3 defense

If you want to start your league with a free-agent list, then generate one extra player at each position.

4.1.1 Player Creation Process

Follow these steps for every player leveraging the appropriate section.

Step 1: Roll 2d6 to determine the player's age

Step 2: Roll 2d6 to determine the player's Pass/Run rating

Step 3: Roll 2d6 to determine if the player is going to have 0, 1 or 2 qualities. If the result is "0 Qualities" then skip Step 4

Step 4: Refer to the appropriate rating column and roll once (for 1 quality) or twice (for 2 qualities) to determine what quality or qualities the player has.

- If the same result is rolled twice, then player has the "full" quality - with no "semi" bullet (•).
- If the second result is an exact opposite of the first, they cancel each other out and the player is not given a quality.

4.1.12 Kick Returner (KR, PR) Creation for New Teams

Kick returners are different than other players as they don't have a Pass/Run rating. Instead, they have a grade that represents their skill level. This grade will be used to determine if the returner earns the ELECTRIC quality before each season begins. Possible grades are A, B, C, and D.

Kickers are different than other players as they don't have a Pass/Run rating or qualities. Instead, they have a grade that represents their skill level. This grade will be used to produce the kickers success ranges for FG's and XP's before each season begins. Possible grades are A, B, C, and D.

5.0 Team Qualities & Ratings

5.1 Offense

5.1.1 Team Scoring Quality

Sum the Pass/Run ratings for all 11 starting offensive players and use the table below to determine the team's scoring quality.

SCORING QUALITY
Sum	Quality
>27	PROLIFIC
25-27	PROLIFIC•
20-24	neutral
17-19	DULL•
<17	DULL

5.1.2 Offense Tendency

Sum the Pass & Run ratings for all 11 starting offensive players separately to come up with a value for each. Use the table below to determine the team's tendency for purposes of modifying game-book TD results from Pass to Run and vice-versa.

TENDENCY
Sum	Tend
(P-R) > 4	P+
(P-R) = 3 or 4	P
	neutral
(R-P) = 3 or 4	R
(R-P) > 4	R+

5.1.3 Other Offensive Qualities

All other FDF team qualities are driven by individual player & head coach qualities. See Section 3 for information on the head coach quality. Players can have zero qualities, one or two semi (•) qualities, one or two full qualities, or a combination of the two. When determining the team qualities:

For every possible quality (see table below), find players with that quality. Two semi qualities (denoted by a quality with a bullet (•) after it) are considered to equal a full quality.

Opposite qualities (on the same row in the table below) cancel each other out. For example, a player who is DYNAMIC cancels out a player who is ERRATIC. If one player is DYNAMIC•, and the other is ERRATIC, then the team would be ERRATIC•.

When all qualities have been counted, and opposites taken into account, a net of a full quality (or more) is considered a full quality for the team. A net of a semi-quality is considered a semi-quality for the team.

OFFENSIVE QUALITIES
Positive Qualities	Negative Qualities
Dynamic	Erratic
Solid	Porous
Evasive*	Hesitant*
Secure	Clumsy
Reliable	Shaky
Efficient	Inefficient
Disciplined	Undisciplined

 Evasive is considered the same as "Solid" and Hesitant is considered the same as "Porous". For example, of one player is SOLID• and the QB is EVASIVE•, the team is full SOLID.*

5.1.3.1 Scoring Quality Check

In order to preserve the integrity of the narrative, some teams may have team qualities removed.

- If a team is PROLIFIC or PROLIFIC•, remove any ERRATIC quality from the team, but do not change the individual players. You can assume that the offensive strength of the team outweigh's the Erratic performance of the individual players. If the team ever loses the PROLIFIC or PROLIFIC• quality, then the ERRATIC quality will return.

- Similarly, if a team is DULL or DULL•, remove any DYNAMIC quality from the team, but do not change the individual players. Follow the same guidelines as above.

5.1.4 Finder Ranges for TD's

The teams generated with this expansion do not include a full roster of players, and so the construction of complete finder ranges for scores is beyond the scope of this expansion.

I've included a simplified approach that can be used to identify the ballcarrier or receiver on TD's. Use this as-is or adjust to suit specific rosters. Note that the range for the RB will change based on the QB range.

Roll	Rushing TD
11-12	QB (X/0)
11-15	QB (X/1)
11-23	QB (X/2)
N-54	RB
55-66	Other (Backup RB, FB, etc.)

If creating a league where teams leverage a full time FB, give them a scoring range 55-62.

Roll	Receiving TD
11-15	RB
16-32	WR1
33-41	WR2
42-45	WR3
46-55	TE
56-66	Other (Backup)

If creating a league where teams only have 2 primary WR's, expand their ranges to cover the difference.

5.2 Defense

5.2.1 Team Scoring Prevention Quality

Sum the Pass/Run ratings for all 11 starting defensive players and use the chart below to determine the team's scoring prevention quality:

SCORING PREVENTION QUALITY
Sum	Quality
>27	STAUNCH
25-27	STAUNCH•
20-24	neutral
17-19	INEPT•
<17	INEPT

5.2.2 Other Defensive Qualities

Follow the same process for the defense as you already did for the offense using the following table.

DEFENSIVE QUALITIES
Positive Qualities	Negative Qualities
Stiff	Soft
Punishing	Mild
Aggressive	Meek
Active	Passive
Disciplined	Undisciplined

5.2.2.1 Defense Quality Check

In order to preserve the integrity of the narrative, some teams may have team qualities removed.

- If a team is STAUNCH or STAUNCH•, remove any SOFT quality from the team, but do not change the individual players. You can assume that the defensive strength of the team outweigh's the Soft performance of the individual players. If the team ever loses the STAUNCH or STAUNCH• quality, then the SOFT quality will return.

- Similarly, if a team is INEPT or INEPT•, remove any STIFF quality from the team, but do not change the individual players. Follow the same guidelines as above.

5.2.3 Finder Ranges for Interceptions

Similar to the offense, the construction of complete finder ranges for turnovers is beyond the scope of this expansion. Sacks are not addressed at all as not all sacks are seen in a game of FDF. This also reduces the complexity of the team sheet.

Roll	Interception
11	Roll for Random DL
12-15	Roll for Random LB
16-25	CB1
26-34	CB2
35-53	FS
54-61	SS
62-66	Other

5.3.4 Adjusting FG Ranges for Earlier Seasons

The tables above were created to produce FG success ranges for modern kickers. If creating place kickers for leagues from previous years, reduce the rolled range for FG's by the following amount. Remember to use base-6 numbering. For example, when removing 2 to a range of 11-61, the result is 11-55. No adjustment for XP's is needed.

Use these events to build narrative for your league.

Step 1: Using a method of your choosing, randomly select one of the teams in the league. Alternatively, randomly select one of the two teams involved in the most exciting game of the week.

Step 2: Roll 2d6 against the Master Event Table below to identify the category for this week's storyline.

7.0 Player Progression & Retirement

Players pass through four distinct career phases.

- Young (22-24) Young players represent recent draft picks and developing talent who are still adjusting to the professional level. These players typically enter the league with starter-quality ratings but face the growing pains of adapting to NFL speed and complexity. While they may struggle initially or even regress in their first few seasons, young players offer the highest upside potential and room for significant improvement.

- Prime (25-29) Prime players are in their peak performance window and represent the most reliable talent available. These established players have adapted to the professional game and typically maintain consistent performance levels year to year. Prime players form the core of competitive rosters, offering a balance of proven ability and remaining career length. While they may not improve dramatically, they provide the stability and high-level play needed to compete immediately.

- Veteran (30-33) Veteran players bring invaluable experience and leadership but are beginning to show signs of physical decline. Veterans can still contribute at a high level but carry increasing risk of retirement and performance drops. They're ideal for teams seeking immediate impact and leadership, though their careers may be shorter than younger alternatives.

- Elder (34+) Elder players represent the rare few who have managed to extend their careers beyond typical expectations. These exceptional athletes face steep decline and high retirement risk but may still offer unique value in specific situations. Most elder players are quarterbacks or specialists who rely more on experience than physical ability.

7.1 Annual Player Development

Age every player one year and then refer to the correct career phase for each player as you determine their annual progression or regression. Pay attention to the following rules:

- Pass/Run ratings may not go above 2 or below 0
- Apply any Rising Star or other modifiers to development rolls
- Head Coaches may have a specialty that gives them a modifier that applies to specific development rolls during player development.
- If a player increases their total rating from 1 or 2 (0/1, 1/0, 1/1) to 3+, they immediately remove one of their negative qualities (if they have one). Use a die roll to determine the quality if needed. Perform this step before proceeding to Section 7.3 - Annual Quality Changes.
- If a player decreases their total rating from 3 or more to 2 or lower, they immediately remove one of their positive qualities (if they have one). Use a die roll to determine the quality if needed. Perform this step before proceeding to Section 7.3 - Annual Quality Changes.

7.2 Annual Player Retirement

When development charts call for retirement rolls, follow the procedures in this section.

Players must retire immediately if:

- Their development roll left them with ratings of 0/0
- Their development roll said that the player must retire immediately

The following sections are organized by typical player longevity: High Longevity (QB, K), Moderate Longevity (OL & TE), and Standard Longevity (RB, WR, DL, LB, DB, PR, KR, K).

Note that if a player earned retirement resistance during the development step, they skip this procedure for this year.

Use player position and age to find the right table for each player and roll 2d6 to determine if the player retires.

7.3 Annual Quality Changes

After addressing possible retirements, the final step in player progression is determining if players have a change in their assigned qualities. Follow these steps for every player left active in the league.

Step 1: Roll 1d6. On a result of "5" or "6", there will be a possible quality change, proceed to Step 2. Otherwise, there is no quality change for the player this season.

Step 2: Roll 2d6 on the table below. Only results of "Gain Quality" will proceed to Step 3.

QUALITY CHANGE TABLE
Roll	Result
11-21	Lose Quality - Remove one existing quality
22-31	Downgrade Quality - Convert full quality to semi (•) quality
32-41	Upgrade Quality - Convert semi (•) quality to full quality
42-51	Modify Quality - Change one quality to its opposite
52-61	Gain Quality - Add new quality appropriate to position
62-66	No Net Change - Player maintains current qualities

If the result can apply to more than one quality, roll a die to randomly select one. If the result cannot be applied, then treat as no change.

For the "Modify Quality" result, refer to Section 1.2.2 to identify the opposite quality.

For the "Gain Quality" result, if the player already has 2 qualities, then treat as no change.

Step 3: If the result of Step 2 was "Gain Quality" and the player only has 0 or 1 quality, roll 2d6 on the appropriate position table below to determine what additional quality the player picks up. It is possible for qualities to cancel each other out on this step.

8.0 Annual Draft

The FDF annual draft represents each team's effort to acquire new talent to address their roster needs. Rather than managing a traditional multi-round draft with a large player pool, this system abstracts the draft process to focus on each team's priorities and the inherent uncertainty of draft day.

Teams will identify their positional needs, then determine how successful their overall draft strategy was before rolling to identify the players acquired. Some teams will hit on all their targets, others may suffer an early bust, and a lucky few might find a late-round steal that gives them an extra quality player.

All drafted players enter the league as 22 year-olds. There is no roster depth or management in FDF - if a player is drafted at a position already occupied, one of the two players must immediately be released to the free agent list.

Reminder: Head Coaches with the Talent Spotter specialty get a +1 modifier to all rolls.

8.1 Draft Process

Take all teams through the following process one team at a time.

Step 1: Identify the four positions that the team will go after in the annual draft.

- Primary Need: most critical position to address
- Secondary Need: important but not critical
- Tertiary Need: would be nice to upgrade
- Depth Need: lowest priority

Step 2: Roll on the table below to determine the team's draft success.

DRAFT SUCCESS
Roll	Result	Player's Acquired
11-13	Big Bust	2 players (Secondary + Tertiary needs only)
14-16	Weak Draft	2 players (Primary + Secondary needs only)
21-61	Solid Draft	3 players (Primary + Secondary + Tertiary needs)
62-66	Draft Steal	4 players (All needs addressed)

Step 3: Generate each drafted player. For each player the team acquires, roll on the appropriate position creation tables from the sections below. Apply the following modifiers based on the priority level of the need being filled:

- Primary Need: +2 to Rating roll and Quality Chart roll
- Secondary Need: Use tables as written (no modifiers)
- Tertiary Need: -1 to Rating roll and Quality Chart roll
- Depth Need: -2 to Rating roll and Quality Chart roll

Note: If a modified roll would result in an impossible table result (below 11 or above 66), treat it as 11 or 66 respectively.

Step 4: Handle roster changes. Each new draftee replaces the existing player at that position, who is immediately released to the free agent list.

8.2 Draft Player Creation Tables

The following tables are used to generate drafted players. All players enter the league as 22 year-olds. Remember to apply the appropriate modifiers from Step 3 above.

Follow these steps for every player leveraging the appropriate section.

Step 1: Roll 2d6 to determine the player's Pass/Run rating

Step 2: Roll 2d6 to determine if the player is going to have 0, 1 or 2 qualities. If the result is "0 Qualities" then skip Step 3

Step 3: Refer to the appropriate rating column and roll once or twice to determine what quality or qualities the player has.

- If the same result is rolled twice, then player has the "full" quality - with no "semi" bullet (•).
- If the second result is an exact opposite of the first, they cancel each other out and the player is not given a quality.
- If the first quality is a full quality and the second is opposite, but only a semi quality, then the final result is a semi version of the original. Conversely, If the first quality is a semi quality and the second is full opposite, then the final result is a semi version of the second quality.
